Land Reverts To Timber Corporation

STUART, June 15.—(FNS)—Reforestation of 75,000 acres of land, mostly undeveloped, in Marion and Palm Beach counties, was disclosed last week when papers were filed in both counties by the Indianapolis Development Company to Southern States Land and Timber Corporation. The land is part of an original 1,000-acre purchase by the Indianapolis Company in 1924. A value of $75,000 was placed on the land by revenue stamps on the papers.

The Indianapolis Company is a subsidiary of the Seaboard Air-Railroad and is a holding company of about 750 acres in the area surrounding Indian River, and is given rights of way over certain parts of the land and authority to build water control canals in connection with agricultural developments being carried on by the Seaboard Railway.

EAST COAST WOULD CUT OFF

Martin, to file applications with the Interstate Commerce Commission for certificates of convenience covering the abandonment and new construction.

Bible Class Had 35 In Attendance

To those interested in summarizing the annals of World War No. 1, came to the eleventh hour of the eleventh month; the present invasion of the sixth hour of the sixth day of the sixth month. The Class Quartet, consisting of George Butler, John W. Martin and Cowart, Sanders pianist, was unanimously elected to serve in the capacity of attending angels. The numbers shall be presented each Sunday.

The fast fry last Thursday was the first of the "soldier ship hours" planned by the social committee. Some seventy-five attended. While the class is under the auspices of the First Baptist Church, it is for everybody. It is hoped that at least one hundred more persons interested in the organization, are invited, time 9:45.

LIONS LETTER

Dear Fellows: I know you can picture this place. It is sunny and a little more dead than in other summers. The produce buyers, railroad men, crop harvesters and others are off working. Almost all of the college girls are working or expect to take jobs in other places. Some of the teachers are attending summer school. Kids are swimming in the canal at Canal Point. Some of the bunch still sit around Pat's filling station or at the pool room.

In Pahokee it's the same crowd. You see, it's the same crowd. Flower shop, with an occasional check game at the Palm Service station. Uncle Tom Campbell, making money by selling football season. No fishing contests this year. So, the boys talk of other years or where they expect to go when the summer comes. The farmers are making the usual repairs of equipment, ditching, etc. The little colonies of old boys without looking both ways now. The fall twister is in good form and the club is in good shape.

I had a letter from my brother, Louis, who is past president of the Augusta, Ga. club. He is in the Army in the Pacific in the same branch with the same outfit. Cross, son of Francis "Big Bottle" Cross and he said we should have a "hunt" for him. He said he was "out" of the "hunt" and that goes for all of you. As ever, Frank O'Connell.

Committee Head Urges Farmers To Slash Production

E. W. (Pete) Lins, of Miami, chairman of the Florida Vegetable Committee, advised growers of the State to slash production of vegetables in 1944-45 "regardless of what WPA or any other governmental agencies request," in his annual report to the committee. Mr. Lins, executive secretary of the committee in Orlando.

"There is no production, no sale of the vegetable, in planting areas and acres of vegetables without sound judgment as to the possibilities of the market," Lins said in his report. A copy of the report was handed to Wilson Cowan, assistant WPA administrator, by Mr. Lins. Mr. Cowan is the WPA official for the state, and is attending the annual meeting of the Vegetable Committee last week.

Cowan announced that he planned to make an extensive field tour of principal Florida vegetable producing areas before returning to Washington. "There is no patriotism in planting an acre and not using valuable manpower and gasoline," to plow it under, this year," declared the committee head's report.

Strict adherence to a plan of systematic preventive maintenance, as outlined by the ODT District Manager at Miami, should prolong the life of the average truck as much as three times its ordinary useful life.

The truck manufacturing industry is producing this year about 100,000 new trucks as it has produced in the last year. The previous year, Mr. McGhee said, less than 100,000 were for military use.

The industry's available manufacturing capacity is large enough to produce trucks in quantity for both military and civilian use, but not in sufficient volume to meet both demands, the ODT official said.

ANCIENT HIGHWAYS

The world's most famous street is in the news because of the Yanks' advance along Italy's Apennine Way. Begun in 312 B. C. by the old Roman Appian Claudius, it runs from Rome to Brindisi on the Adriatic, and is lined with handsome tombs and ruins of monumental buildings. Like many other Roman roads it was so durably built that stretches of it are in good condition even today.

Watling street, another Roman thoroughfare, running from Dover through London to Chester, was the most famous road of early England. It is still the base for important English highways.

Today's famous streets, New York's Fifth avenue and Wall street, London's Piccadilly and the Strand, the Parisian boulevards and every town's Main street or Broadway, have varying claims to fame, but they cannot really boast, until, like Watling street and the Appian Way, they have lasted 2,000 years.—Sanford Herald.

SWEET MUSIC

The negro soldier was defending the musical ability of his company's bugler.

"Man, when Sweden's folks wrap his lips aroun' dat bugle an' plays 'mess call', Ah looks at mah beans, and Ah sez, 'Strawberries, behave! You's kicking de whipped cream out of mah plate!'—Tittusville Star-Advocate.

LOUD ONES

A St. Louis haberdasher had occasion to display in one of his windows a new consignment of shirts and ties embracing a variety of bright and widely clashing colors.

In the midst of the brilliant display was placed a large placard bearing the simple injunction: "Listen!"—Christian Science Monitor.

MARVELS DEBUNKED

Engineers, technicians, industrialists, in their individual capacity or in conference assembled, continue to pour cold water on the fevered brows of the more violent post-war incantations. Will the post-war automobile be an incredibly beautiful aerodynamic alloy creation, ripping off astounding mileages on practically nothing in the way of fuel? No, say the automobile experts. For a long while to come the post-war automobile will be not very different from the pre-war article, starting off with the interrupted 1942 model.

Will the post-war homes be built of incredibly cheap, light and beautiful new pre-fabricated plastic that is practically no cost at all? No, say the experts. The greater part of the vast new post-war housing will be built out of the familiar brick, stone and lumber.

And now it is the turn of the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers. They meet and discuss the subject of post-war marine fuels from petroleum, and their conclusions are summed up by the headline "Little Change Seen in Post-War Fuels."

To be sure, the inquiry here is confined to petroleum, and there is nothing that actually rejects the fond vision of the post-war family chugging into the post-war aerobus, splitting an atom, and landing thirty minutes later in Chungking. But all in all, it does not bring up pictures of dazzling new worlds to hear the marine engineers modestly discuss heavy residual fuels and distillate fuels and high and low octanes. That kind of language suggests a kind of post-war world that is easily recognizable.—New York Times.

Six WAC officers were billeted with an English family. They had difficulty with the different usage of words common to both countries' vocabularies.

One night they had been discussing the mail system between England and the U. S. One of the WACs turned to their host and asked, "What do you think of the American V-mail form?"

"Papa reddened and looked embarrassed.

"You've seen it, haven't you?" persisted the WAC.

"It's quite different from the English, you know," Papa stammered an agreement, glanced at his wife.

When the WACs went into detail, he exclaimed, "Oh! I thought you meant the American female form."—Parade.

POINT RETURNED

An orator, returning home flushed with efforts, and also from certain spiritual causes, found a mild curate seated opposite in the street car. "It may interest you to know," he said truthfully, "that I don't believe in the existence of heaven."

The minister merely nodded and went on reading his paper. "You don't quite realize what I'm trying to make clear. I want you to understand that I don't believe for a single, solitary moment that such a thing as heaven exists."

"All right, all right," answered the minister pleasantly, "so to hell, then, but don't make so much fuss about it."—Winter Haven Herald.

VERTICAL GARDEN

We have long since ceased to be shocked at the grotesque theories advanced by those who apparently have plenty of time to think up nutty and impractical ideas.

Latest to reach our ears is that of a vertical garden, in which all bending will be eliminated. You won't have to break your back weeding or gathering your vegetables. You can pull the weeds much as you'd take a book off the shelf. But, on second thought, maybe the vertical idea isn't so scary. Worms coming to the surface would fall and break their necks.—Tittusville Star-Advocate.

LUNCH MONEY

Every business day, promptly at noon, a timid little man would check in at the safe deposit department of a Chicago bank and deposit his safe deposit box, which he would open, peek into, and carry away to one of the small opinion rooms, where he would remain for exactly 30 minutes. After several months one young woman clerk picked up enough courage to ask the visitor a few questions, which he answered in a thin, colorless voice. The deposit box was empty, and always had been. He had simply rented it so as to have a quiet spot in the little cooey room to eat his lunch, carried in his coat pocket.—Readers Digest.

The medical officer was certain that he was getting evasive answers from the new recruit.

"At least you can tell me the heaviest you've ever weighed," said the officer testily.

"About 150," replied the recruit.

"And the lightest?" snapped the M. O.

"Six pounds, sir," replied the other without blinking an eye.—Tittusville Star-Advocate.

UNDULY ALARMED

Florida points — which take pardonable pride in their bathing beaches and fresh water lakes — have entered vigorous protests against the state cabinet carrying on with contracts for leases to drill for oil on the state's submerged lands off shore and inland in the lake bottoms.

It is understandable why Florida citizens, and Florida people, should want to protect what is to them one of their greatest assets — our incomparable beaches, and fresh water lakes. No Floridian who loves his state would stand idly by and witness any destruction of natural beauty spots or water resources. But it appears that those who have protested so vigorously against the state granting leases for exploration for oil on these submerged lands, were not in possession of all the facts when they made their protests.

Speaking for the majority of the cabinet or the internal improvement board, Governor Holland and Comptroller J. M. Lee, recently issued a lengthy statement explaining the leases. Cabinet members assure us that the terms give absolute protection to both private property and the public interest. There isn't going to be any drilling for oil, anywhere in the state, on state-owned lands or private property, if proper objection is made.

What the state officials have been attempting, long before there was any tangible evidence that oil would be found in Florida, was to encourage prospectors, for all to state and look for it. Looking to the financial interests of the state, these leases were entered into some years ago, but even then all of the safeguards were thrown around the contracts that it seemed reasonable and necessary to incorporate therein.

We are afar off at the present time from having our beaches and inland lakes spotted with oil derricks. Meanwhile, too much muddling of the water, or too much confusion in the public mind, might have a delaying effect on the prospecting operations which are being talked of here and there, and which have no connection with drilling in the beaches and lake bottoms.—Ocala Star Banner.

TERM DEFINED

"What does this expression 'see you' mean?" asked the judge.

The clerk of the court replied:

"My lord, it appears that this is a slang expression of American origin which has gained regrettable currency in the language of our people through the insidious agency of the cinema, and as, I am led to understand, employed to indicate a state of disquiet in the mind of the speaker as to the veracity, or credibility of a statement made to him."

"Oh, yeah!" said the judge. — Montreal Star.

PSYCHOLOGICAL WARFARE

He was the sort of fellow who must brag. "One of my ancestors," he was saying, "won a battle against the Normans by skillful use of his artillery."

"Don't be silly," retorted his bored companion. "Gunner warfare isn't known then."

"I'm well aware of that, and so was my ancestor."

"Then how did he win the battle?"

"He aimed the artillery at the Normans, and the little seeing the guns thought gunpowder had been invented. So they hopped it."—London Exchange.

The absentee problem in Berlin is acute. Every day a few more factories fail to show up for work.—Chicago Daily News.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

by Russell Kay

While we like to think that the so-called average American is a smart hombre, and pride ourselves on being an "informed" people, the facts don't jibe with this "wisdom" thinking. At least so says Hadley Cantril, Director of Public Opinion Research of Princeton University.

Cantril has spent a good many years feeling the public pulse and his job is to get the facts about how folks think and feel. The things people know and the things they remember are clues to their thinking, and recent polls by Gallup and other public opinion researchers disclose that as a people, Americans are woefully ignorant and supremely self centered.

Of approximately 80,000,000 adults in the United States, 27,000,000 don't know the Japanese were taken the Philippines in 1942. 60,000,000 don't know that they have taken Wake Island.

When asked to name the United Nations, 57,000,000 fail to mention Canada; 70,000,000 don't name Norway and 58,000,000 forget Russia, less than half of us know this country was not a member of the League of Nations. Two-thirds of us do not know that Britain is providing us with military supplies under reverse lease.

At least 51,000,000 have never heard of read of the Atlantic Charter and 80,000,000 were unable to name even one of its provisions.

We are uninformed, too, about things closer home. 33,000,000 of us don't know what a tariff is; 85,000,000 are blank when asked to tell what is meant by a reciprocal trade treaty. Nearly 70 percent of us do not know that presidential approval and a two-thirds vote of the senate alone is required for treaty ratification; two-thirds of us do not know that the states, rather than the federal government, set voting requirements.

Nearly 54,000,000 do not know what causes inflation. Over 70,000,000 don't know what money is a subsidy—some farmers think a subsidy is a sort of a cover crop.

These are only a few of the long list of facts that must be recited to illustrate public ignorance. What they show us is a narrow conception of our self interest — our failure to see the relationship of certain events and policies to our own personal welfare.

It is really difficult to believe that with all the publicity given the Atlantic Charter in the press, over the radio and in the news reels that 54,000,000 people never heard of it and that 80,000,000 more could not name a single one of its provisions. But Cantril tells us that this information is as accurate and dependable as social science can get the facts from unbiased and carefully handled public polls and surveys.

Startling also is the fact that most of us are busy as to "What we are fighting for."—Such slogans as "The Four Freedoms" or "To Make the World a Better Place to Live In" don't click with the average man on the street.

About half the people contend that we are fighting to preserve "The American Way of Life," but their definitions of "The American Way of Life" are varied and conflicting. Most folks, however, think of it as a high standard of living and a desire to maintain personal comfort, security, self improvement and independence of thought and action.

So the division of opinion comes largely from a conflict of views as to how these advantages should be maintained. Some say by governmental edict and control that will provide every individual with every need from the cradle to the grave, and hold absolute control over all activities; others contend that this is exactly what we are fighting against and that only through the least possible governmental control and with utmost freedom for the individual can the "American Way of Life" be preserved.

We have been told that "ignorance is bliss" and that "What we know can't hurt us"—but if we are to have the least possible governmental control and with utmost freedom for the individual, the "American Way of Life" must be preserved.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

About People
We Know

Jimmy Repper, Canal Point farmer, came by The Everglades News office bright and early Monday morning to show us a freshly caught 10-pound snook. Jimmy caught the snook in Lake Okechobee just across the dike in front of his home north of Canal Point. He used a 315 underwater bait to land the prize fish.

Repair work and a paint job on the Tom Ennis grocery and restaurant makes that building on Lakeland road look mighty good. The building was acquired quite a while ago from J. H. Connell who used it as a grocery store just north of its present location. Mr. Ennis remodeled the building and added more space. It houses the grocery and restaurant. The paint job last week perks up its appearance. Incidentally, the morning coffee in the restaurant is good.

A letter this week from Edwin A. Moody, of Canal Point says that he is now located with Uncle Sam's fighting forces somewhere in Italy. He mentioned seeing Mr. Vaux in England a few weeks back. He had located C. Brovika, another Canal Point boy, but has been unable to cover the 200 miles distance to see him.

Moody was greatly interested in The Everglades News in regard that he might keep up with what's going on.

C. W. Teston, who has been with the Gulf Insurance company in Pahokee for several months is moving to Delray Beach with the same company. His family is visiting in Douglas, Ga. at present but will move to Delray upon his return. Mr. Teston will be replaced by J. M. Loyd, who comes to Pahokee from Kissimmee. Mr. Loyd is a Lake Worth school teacher and will teach during the 1944-45 term before coming to Pahokee to live.

Miss Babs O'Connell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank O'Connell of Canal Point, left Saturday to attend the summer session at the University of North Carolina. During the past season Miss O'Connell was employed in the offices of the Everglades Growers Cooperative at the State Market.

Miss Eleanor Chastain has arrived home from Rome, Ga. where she attended Shorter college during the past term. She will spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Chastain in Canal Point. Miss Joy Lou Bailey, who also attended Shorter college, will spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bailey in Belle Glade.

Rev. E. V. Doherty, pastor of the Canal Point Methodist church, will move to Key West this week to become pastor of the Key West Methodist church. Before coming to Key West, he will be succeeded in Canal Point by Rev. H. H. H. Rev. T. A. Ferguson was returned to Pahokee for another year. Rev. J. A. Jameson was returned to Belle Glade for another year.

A letter this week from Windy Willis tells of his work this summer with the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad in Tampa. From the way Windy talks the weather must be a little warm in those parts. He mentioned attending the Tampa Rotary club and meeting a lot of old friends. Our guess is that Constellation will welcome the start of another season on Lake Okechobee when he will return to take up his duties here as commercial agent.

John Bolton is in receipt of a letter from a former employee—Jack Serratt. Jack is in the service of Uncle Sam and is working through the African campaign and is now in Italy. His many friends will be glad to know that Jack is doing okay in the service.

Carmen Salvatore and a group of workmen are busy these days putting the various school grounds in order. All schools in the Glades will undergo the usual summer repair and clean-up. Mr. Salvatore said. Plans call for re-painting the school yard at Canal Point this Sunday-Monday. The work will be done this summer.

Cinematic Chatter
By Malcolm Miller

Let's talk about this chap, Frank Sinatra. For the uninitiated, he is the young fellow who came up from nowhere overnight and was, and is to date, the sensation of the air waves.

I walked into the Everglades Theatre last Monday to sit through a performance of this young man in a picture under the title, The Sinatra Show, "Higher and Higher," which comes to the Prince Theatre this Sunday-Monday with Michele Morgan, Jack Haley, Frank Sinatra, Leon Errol. The picture, down to the last number of the cast was excellent. The story was great, the direction superb and the casting the last word in showbusiness. Sinatra, the fellow I want's going to like. I found to be a very personable chap, modest, fair as an actor, good as a singer and charming in the delicate business of handling the ladies in a graceful, manly manner.

On Tuesday-Wednesday comes a picture that every person should make it their business to see, because it tells about a little known outfit. An outfit of men who win few honors, such as the men in other fighting units. In fact these men are not judged as fighters, but as constructionists. They are the SeaBees. Heroic down to the last man.

The picture is under the title "The Fighting SeaBees," and it stars John Wayne, Susan Hayward and Dennis O'Keefe, and features such well known players as William Frawley, Leonid Kinskey and Grant Withers in one of the best stories about these fellows that has yet come to the screen.

Thursday-Friday comes a light comedy about a screwy family whose man-of-the-house is always doing something to discredit the family among their neighbors. The picture is "The Good Fellow" and it stars and features "Oogie" Calhoun, Helen Walker, Mabel Paige, James Brown and Diana Hale.

On Saturday comes "Prairie Thunder" which boasts an all star Western cast and a story that is new and novel.

Closing the chatterbox for the week let me remind you that we are now right in the middle of the "5th War Loan Drive." Our quota for Pahokee-Canal Point is $500.00. And that's not hay. So why not, Right? Now make up your mind to buy extra bonds during this drive.

In fact, why not, make up your mind to get your name on the letter to G. F. Joe which is to be letter to President Roosevelt, Commander in Chief of the Armed Forces of the United States, when the drive closes, with a letter requesting this letter be brought to the attention of the men in the fighting forces. O. G. I. Joe! See you at the movies—Mal.

Tractors On Steel
Must Continue On Steel For A While

GAINESVILLE, Fla.—Although additional production facilities, for large rubber tires are now coming into use, tractors now operating on steel wheels will have to stay on steel for a while longer. H. G. Clayton, head of the Florida USDA War Board, has been informed by the War Food Administration.

All additional production facilities Clayton explained, are needed for making large tires for military vehicles to be used by the Nation's armed forces and for trucks used in domestic transportation.

Harvesting and marketing of agricultural products depend to a great extent on large trucks, and making rear tires for tractors required the same manufacturing facilities as required for making tires for domestic trucks and military equipment. For an unpredictable period, while available facilities must be used mainly for production of tires for military and domestic truck use, large tractor tires are expected to be available only in sufficient numbers to meet the bare needs for equipping new tractors and for replacing worn-out or damaged tires on tractors already operating on rubber.

MRS. JENKINS THANKS FRIENDS FOR KINDNESS

I wish to take this method of thanking each and every one who was so kind to me during the time I was ill in the hospital. I am sincerely grateful for the many lovely flowers and beautiful cards. I shall always remember these many kindnesses. I want every person, who in any way made my stay in the hospital more comfortable, to know that I am, indeed, appreciative of their thoughtfulness.

Mrs. Hazel Jenkins.

An Associated Press story out of New York tells of a joint plan on the part of the U. S. Sugar corporation and Newport Industries to grow ramie in this section. The story as reported by the national news agency follows: The United States Sugar Corp. and Newport Industries have concluded an agreement for a joint venture into the production and processing of the fiber ramie, it was announced Monday.

The two companies will devote about 1,500 acres of land along the Palm Beach Canal in Florida to the culture and processing of the crop. The agricultural activities will be directed by the sugar company and processing will be under direction of Newport, a leading producer of rosin, turpentine and related products. Both companies have their offices in Florida.

Ramie is a newcomer to the American fiber group. It is a strong fiber similar in some respects to flax and is said to be many times stronger than cotton. In China, where it is well known it is called China grass.

We had an interesting sheriff's race in Palm Beach county on May 23. John Kirk of Belle Glade won out over Sheriff Jack Baker much to the delight of Mr. Kirk's friends throughout the county. The sheriff's race in Dade county commanded a certain amount of interest in this section. It seems that a lot of folks were polling for "Whistling Jimmy" Sullivan. His virtues were sung in these parts by many of his boosters. When the returns were in and "Whistling Jimmy" was chalked up as the winner, his boosters here breathed a sigh of relief and said: "I told you so."

There's a certain bench in front of Noid's store in Pahokee that has seen a lot of service. During the past few months plans have been hatched on that bench which would elect or delect many a candidate. It seems that during hours of deepest meditation some of the erstwhile bench sitters have done a large amount of whittling. Maybe it's necessary for a man to whittle when he's in deep meditation or maybe it's necessary to whittle to expend pent-up energy. Or maybe, it's just a habit. Anyway, the bench has been taken away in many spots by continuous whittling. A row of small nails have been driven in the edge of the bench to thwart sharp knife blades. But, believe it or not, deep notches appear in the bench between the nails, even though they were driven close together. The writer of this column knows a certain newspaper editor who whittled a few notches on the bench during the weeks immediately preceding the May 2 primary.

You know now what we've heard from him.

We've heard that Eisenhower and his Americans have hurled themselves like a thunderbolt against the bristling defenses of Hitler's Wehrmacht!

We've heard that they are halting and smashing at our foe—sparring neither steel nor sweat nor blood in one final, furious assault that marks the supreme military effort of this War!

And what news do Eisenhower and his men expect from us?

Men and women of America—what the Invasion is to our fighting men, the 5th War Loan is to us at home!

For us, as well as for them, this is the crisis—the time for tremendous, overwhelming effort! Make no mistake! The 5th War Loan is the biggest, most vitally important financial effort of this whole War!

If the 5th War Loan is to succeed, each one of us must do more than ever before—must buy double . . . yes, triple . . . the Bonds we bought last time.

Our men expect to hear that we are buying double—that we are matching their sacrifice as best we can—that the American nation, soldiers and civilians together, is making one gigantic effort to win this War!

That's the news our men expect to hear from us.

Will you personally see that they get it?

And here are 5 more reasons for buying Extra Bonds in the 5th!

1. War Bonds are the best, the safest investment in the world!
2. War Bonds return you $4 for every $3 in 10 years.
3. War Bonds help keep prices down.
4. War Bonds will help win the Peace by increasing purchasing power after the War.
5. War Bonds mean education for your children, security for you, funds for retirement.

Many Thanks

Until such time as I can personally thank the voters of Palm Beach County for selecting me to serve as their Judge of the Criminal Court, may I take this means of expressing my appreciation. May I also thank those who fairly considered my candidacy even though I did not have their support at the polls. I am deeply grateful to my many friends whose active support made my vote possible. And to Mr. Baynes I would like to say that his gentlemanly conduct made the campaign enjoyable throughout.
